

READING RACEPAK USB LICENSE DISK

1. Insert the Racepak USB Drive labeled 'License Disk' into the USB port of your PC.
Open the folder to view files when prompted.
2. If the version of DataLink on the USB Drive is newer than your current version, double-click the DataLinkII_vX.X.X.exe file to update your Racepak program.
Carefully follow all onscreen prompts. (X.X.X indicates version number – ie: 4.4.2)
3. Start the DataLink software
4. From the menu bar select Security and then Read License Disk.
5. Make sure to select Copy User Registry Keys, Copy Configuration Files and Copy License Keys with a check mark then click OK.
6. Select the drive letter that contains the USB Drive from the bottom window and click OK. If you are unsure of the drive letter, leave the default <Search All> to have the system automatically locate the drive containing the licensing information.
7. A window will open and scroll. Once finished, it will read DONE. Click OK.
8. The configuration file and license files have now been updated; remove the USB Drive and store in safe location.
